

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

THOUGH WRECKED BY FLAMES, COLLEGE WORK WILL NOT HALT

It is gratifying to know that always in time of great loss a wave of sympathy sweeps over this community. The burning of the University College of Medicine this morning is a calamity that can soon be restored. But when we consider that a college which is doing so much for this community must be retarded in its work we deplore the happening.

Adopt Resolutions.

The following resolutions presented by a committee were adopted:

As representatives of the citizenship of Richmond, assembled in the Chamber of Commerce to take action in regard to the great loss suffered by this community in the burning of the University College of Medicine and the serious damage to the Virginia Hospital on the morning of January 6, 1910, we desire to express:

First, Our sense of profound sorrow at the calamity which has befallen one of the city's most valuable and progressive educational and philanthropic institutions and the destruction of buildings and equipment, entailing keen personal and public loss.

Second, Our appreciation of the widespread influence for enlightenment and relief which these institutions have exerted not only in the city of Richmond, but throughout Virginia and the South during their long and honorable history, perpetuating the professional and personal virtues of an honored name in Southern history and in American medical science; and our recognition of the invaluable public service which such institutions render.

Third, To Formulate Plan.

The trustees, president, faculty and students of the University College of Medicine and the directors, officers, patients and employees of the Virginia Hospital in their loss, with assurances of our readiness to render such assistance as may be within our power.

Fourth, Our sense of the necessity of immediately rebuilding this institution in order that the prestige and position of Richmond in the medical world may suffer no loss, and to this end we urge the president and officers of the University College of Medicine to formulate a plan that will enable the citizens of this city to assist in bearing in part the financial responsibility so incurred.

HOSPITAL SAVED BY HEROIC WORK

The second floor, is entirely burned away, while in the rear, and on the Twelfth Street side, high brick walls, which seem to totter with every breeze, stand as grim monuments of desolate destruction. The building was thoroughly equipped for the duties of a medical school, and the entire contents were reduced to total wreckage. No effort was made to save anything, as the fire had gained great headway before it was discovered.

The most serious individual loss is in the microscopic laboratory, in which $10,000 worth of microscopes and specimens were kept. The entire equipment of the dental department was destroyed, including about $200 worth of property belonging to students. The dissecting hall, in which bodies are kept for experimental surgery, was partially burned, but it is believed that the bodies which are said to be valuable assets of the institution, may be preserved. William R. Miller, registrar of the college, recovered all his records from the safe in his office on the ground floor.

Hospital Escaped Injury. The hospital practically escaped damage, except for smoke, but the day yesterday morning was one of great confusion, and not until midday did anything like quiet prevail.

The nurses, under Miss Simmons, were not unduly excited, even when they learned that the hospital was surely burned; but with strict obedience to rules took orders from their superintendant, and not one of them faltered in the execution of any task. To the doctors and nurses is due all credit, according to those who saw them at work, in preventing unnecessary alarm, which might, at such a time, have resulted in panic and death.

"Other more serious fires have visited Richmond in recent years, when the financial loss is considered," said an official of the Hospital Department yesterday, "but the blaze this morning is certainly more spectacular than any since the destruction of the Jefferson Hotel."

Patients in Hospital. At the time the fire was discovered, all of whom were removed to places of safety in the neighborhood, were Mrs. J. H. Ashburne and baby, of Richmond; Miss Lucy Atkinson, of San Marco, Tex.; J. W. Atwell, of Glen Allen; Laura Bailey, colored, of Richmond; Miss Mary Barrett, of Richmond; McGuire Bigger, of Richmond; Miss Blanche Burroughs, of Richmond; Willie Burr, of Richmond; Miss Maggie Catto, of Richmond; James Childrey, of Richmond; C. C. Comer, of Halifax county; Mrs. Edgar English, of Richmond; Miss Gordon, of Fredericksburg; Mrs. Charles A. Howard, of Fredericksburg; Mrs. Pannett, of Richmond; of Dover, N. C.; Miss Conkle Karnaagay, of Richmond; Mrs. F. B. Lord, of Highland Park; C. E. Major, of Oak Grove; Dr. Roger Martin, of Lexington; H. G. Moffett, of Washington; Mrs. T. Montgomery, of Richmond; Gus Patriavaka, of Lorraine, Va.; T. M. Perkins, of Richmond; Miss Elizabeth Potter, of Staunton; Earl Riley, of Bluefield, W. Va.; Mrs. M. L. Rose, of Stoney Creek; J. E. Russ, of Wilmington, N. C.; H. W. Schlatter, of Spotsylvania county; Mrs. M. A.

Schools, of Hanover county; Jesse Skeen (baby), of Clintwood, Va., and Alice Taylor, colored, of Richmond.

make the remainder of the session one of the best in the history of the college.

The applause which greeted this statement showed the spirit of the men, so clearly and so eloquently expressed in the resolutions set forth above. Arrangements have already been made for classes to-day and tomorrow, and from the statements at the Chamber of Commerce meeting later in the afternoon the student body is assured that work will continue on a greater scale than ever before.

MEDICAL COLLEGE OPENS ITS DOORS

Offers Every Possible Assistance and Extends Heartfelt Sympathy.

At a meeting yesterday the faculty of the Medical College of Virginia adopted resolutions expressing sympathy with the University College of Medicine in its loss by fire, and offering every possible assistance in order that the regular work may proceed.

The resolutions follow: "Whereas, the faculties of the Medical College of Virginia learn with sorrow of the losses suffered by the faculties of the University College of Medicine in the destruction of their buildings and equipment, be it therefore

"Resolved, That the faculties of the Medical College of Virginia feel deep sympathy with the faculty of the University College of Medicine in the destruction of their buildings and equipment, and cordially extend to them the use of buildings and any other assistance within the power of the college to extend."

"Resolved, further, That the following committee be appointed to carry out these objects in detail: Dr. Christopher Tompkins, dean; Dr. L. C. Boshier, president of the Memorial Hospital Corporation; Dr. F. W. Stiff, chairman of the dental faculty; Dr. F. M. Reade, chairman of the pharmaceutical faculty; and Drs. W. H. Taylor, J. Fuller Bright, Charles M. Hazen and Greer Baughman, heads of the departments of chemistry, anatomy, physiology and pathology, respectively."

STATE AND CITY SHOULD AID BOTH

John P. Branch Shows Great Value of Medical Colleges to Prestige of Richmond.

Nothing would give greater prestige or be a more decided help to Richmond than a big medical college, in the opinion of John P. Branch. The city of Richmond and the State of Virginia, said Mr. Branch last night, could well afford to contribute $100,000 each to endow and establish such an institution.

"The disastrous fire of this morning," said Mr. Branch, "is a distinct loss to the city. Some fifteen years ago we had not more than 10 students in our medical colleges. Some of our people got together some money and equipped our institutions, with the result that we have to-day 600 students. These two medical schools have been an invaluable help to the city in every way—making it a centre for technical education and bringing large amounts of money to our business men.

"If State and city will do their part individuals will subscribe, and a great institution, famous all over the land, would be the result. It would be a splendid thing for Richmond and for Virginia."

POLICEMEN DESERT WIVES.

Two Members of Danville Force Leave Town With Other Women.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Danville, Va., January 6.—The resignation of Officers Charles G. Franklin and William H. Fuller from the Danville police force, followed quickly by reports and charges that they had deserted their wives and families to elope with two young women, and sisters, with whom they are said to have been infatuated, has created the biggest sensation local police circles have experienced in years.

Franklin resigned from the police force several months ago with the intention of going to Wilmington, N. C., to run on the street cars, but it later developed that a young woman of this city had also disappeared and that Franklin was not in Wilmington with his wife. It is reported that Franklin was recently seen in Dallas, Tex. Officer Fuller sent in his resignation, written on the Hotel Roby stationery, Lynchburg, and it was mailed from Forest Depot, Va., last Monday, and the same day a married woman whose residence was on Upper Street, and sister of the other, left the city.

Fuller's resignation came as a great surprise, as he had been given a furlough of two or three days to hunt near Callands. He gave as his reason for resigning continued bad health. Much sympathy is felt here for both men, and the same day a married woman whose residence was on Upper Street, and sister of the other, left the city.

SHOT WITH HUNTING RIFLE.

Traveling Man Found Critically Wounded in His Home.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Charlotte, N. C., January 6.—Archibald C. Lee, traveling representative of the John A. Robbing Sons Company, of Trenton, N. J., was found with a bullet hole in his head in the "den" of his home in Dilworth at 7 o'clock to-night. A hunting rifle was found near him. The injured man was rushed to a hospital, where it is said his condition is critical. His wife is prostrated and cannot talk, and the only other person in the house at the time was a negro servant, who refuses to talk.

The Lees are prominent here socially. He is said to be originally from Richmond, Va. His mother has lived in Washington. His wife in a statement states her belief that her husband was cleaning his rifle and the shooting was accidental, in which belief it is said that he may live until morning.

SUMMERS HOME DESTROYED.

Occupants Barely Had Time to Escape After Being Aroused.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Bristol, Va., January 6.—The historic Summers home near Wyndale, Washington county, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. It was occupied by Robert Summers, a prominent attorney of Washington county, and he and Mrs. Summers barely escaped, the building being almost burned before they were aroused. The home of the late Colonel John C. Summers this place was known as "Point Lookout." It had been in the possession of the Summers family for half a century. The loss is $5,000, with $3,000 insurance.

Reward for Capture of Thames.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Danville, Va., January 6.—A reward of $25 has been offered for the capture of Fred L. Thames, the young white man who is alleged to have assisted in the burning of the warehouseman of this city, while on a visit to his old home in Mecklenburg county, Va. Thames was arrested during Christmas week, Mr. Nelson was attacked from behind, and after being rendered unconscious was shot in the abdomen.

Boys Charged With Robbing Store. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Danville, Va., January 6.—Three young white boys, Midget, Lynn, Will Jarrett, of Clarence, Jarrett, and James, charged with robbing a store, were arrested, charged with entering and robbing the store of W. P. Scott on Union Street sometime during the morning. They were being held in the Mayor's Court to-morrow morning.

Well Known in Fredericksburg. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Fredericksburg, Va., January 6.—Rear-Admiral William T. Burwell, of the United States Navy (retired), who died in Wales Tuesday, married a sister of S. S. Bradford, of this city, and he and his wife have been frequent visitors here and have many friends in this city.

AMUSEMENTS.

Horse Show Building—Circus. Bijou—"Arizona."

Gave Good Performance. The Honolulu Students, Hawaiian performers and singers, gave a most creditable performance at the Academy of Music last night, the musical part of the program being one of the best rendered attractions of the program during the year. There were selections from Berger, Everett, Faure, Broekman, Kalany and Hueland. Many scenes of life and custom in the Hawaiian Islands were given, but the most powerful part of the program came from the musical selections of Aime, Anahulu and Messrs. Kumalao and Keouli, from well-known American songs. They were applauded time and time again. On instruments in vocal music and in both combined they appeared to be past masters, and their rendition of American songs and Japanese translations were perfect. There were several instrumental and vocal solos, and the finale, "Fare Thee Well," from "The Queen of Lilliput,"

Orphan Day at Circus.

The attendance at the Rhoda Royal indoor circus last night was large and the most enthusiastic which has witnessed any performance at the circus. The show was comfortable and the artists went at their work in fine spirit.

This afternoon the inmates of all the orphan asylums will be admitted free, and on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, there will be a special matinee for school children.

This morning there will be a parade from the Horse Show building to Main, to Eighteenth, to Venable, to Twentieth, to Broad, to Brook Avenue, to Clay, to Harrison, to Grove, to the building. The last performance will be given Saturday night.

FUGITIVES FOUND

Roberta de Janon and Walter Said to Have Been Located.

Philadelphia, Pa., January 6.—Miss Roberta B. de Janon and Alfred Cohen, the waiter with whom she is alleged to have left this city on December 29, are said to have been found. This announcement was made this afternoon by a person close to the girl's relatives. Just where and when the missing couple were located could not be learned, but it is said that Robert Bult, the girl's wealthy grandfather, and those working with him are now bending their efforts to close the sensational case.

A conference of those interested in the case was held this afternoon in the office of Henry Clay, director of the Department of Public Safety, and during the meeting the director left his office and handed one of the detectives on the case a warrant with instructions to serve it at once. Representatives of the family of Roberta de Janon to-night refused to either confirm or deny the report that the girl has been found.

Departure of Fleet From New York

New York, January 6.—Ten gray battleships of the third division of the Atlantic battleship fleet, mist-shrouded and adrift from a melting coat of ice, hoisted anchor in the Hudson this afternoon preparatory to steaming away for Hampton Roads to join their sisters, but the fog and ice-chattered
